What the day owes to the night Hervé Koubi

Music J. S. Bach, Kronos Quartet, Algerian compositions

Hervé Koubi created this highly physical, stunningly fluid work after traveling to Algeria to find his North African roots. Combining capoeira (Afro-Brazilian martial arts), urban and contemporary dance with powerful lighting, imagery evocative of Orientalist paintings and the stone filigree of Islamic architecture, What the day owes to the night is a cultural, emotional experience set in the desert and sunlight of North Africa.

"This company not only exhibits artistic excellence but also cultural relevance!" TITAS DALLAS

BALLET HISPÁNICO

CONTEMPORARY • NEW YORK

April 23 + 24, 2021 • 7:30 pm

Doña Perón Annabelle Lopez Ochoa | Music Peter Salem

Choreographed by Annabelle Lopez Ochoa, Doña Perón is an explosive portrait of Eva "Evita" Perón whose ambition and conflicting desires fed her life as an activist and feminist leader. Ochoa explores that extremes of power at the forefront of Evita's life as she ascends the ranks of Argentinian society while concealing a shameful past within a poor family. Music by Peter Salem will hint at notes of tango, reinforcing the intensity of Evita's diverging legacies.

Bygones David Raymond and Tiffany Tregarthen, in collaboration with Renée Sigouin, Elya Grant and David Harvey

Creators David Raymond and Tiffany Tregarthen have travelled the world performing in Kidd Pivot's most recent works. Now presenting their own work, Bygones is a dance theatre piece that combines hyper-detailed choreography, ghostly architecture, puppeteering and illusions, celebrating how we are shaped by what we overcome, and how something challenging can lead to something beautiful. Bygones premiered at Bulgaria's One Festival and was co-commissioned by Dance Victoria through its Chrystal Dance Fund.

"... some of the city's most exciting, ambitious dance-theatre work right now, and the trip they're offering is a rush—even if you don't trust your eyes." GEORGIA STRAIGHT
